

JENERATIONS JAZZ FESTIVAL

Directed By:

Julius Tolentino - Saxophonist • Jazz Director

JENerations Regional High School Jazz Festival June 2, 2018 • 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Hosted by Rutgers University's Mason Gross School of the Arts, in partnership with Jazz Education Network (JEN), and Newark Academy
Rutgers University's Mason Gross School of the Arts • Douglass Campus
Nicholas Music Center • 85 George Street • New Brunswick, NJ

- Groups will work with world-class musicians, including Rutgers alumnus and former member of Jazz at Lincoln Center Orchestra, Sean Jones (trumpet); and Mason Gross faculty: Ralph Bowen (saxophone), Kenny Davis (bass), Vic Juris (guitar), Joe Mosello (trumpet), and Marc Stasio (piano) in clinics in a noncompetitive festival format.
- Bands will receive their own separate clinic as well as other group clinics throughout the day.
- Directors can attend special hands-on sessions for professional development.
- Festival participation includes a JEN membership for music directors and their students, allowing free access to charts, student scholarship opportunities, grants, and much more.
- The festival concludes with a star-studded concert featuring guest-teaching artists.

• $200 Registration (JEN Membership included)
• $30 Individual Auditor Fee • $15 Non-Participant Concert Tickets
